Shea Homes signs National Support Contract with LiTera Companies to provide dedicated Technology and Audio/Visual support services to their master planned Communities

Scottsdale, Arizona - May 1, 2006 - LiTera LLC and their subsidiary One Number Support announced today that Shea Homes – the nation’s largest privately owned home builder – signed a national support agreement with LiTera to provide technology and Audio/Visual support for Shea Homes’ master planned communities nationwide. LiTera is a technology support service company focused on technology planning, implementation and support, and vertically focused in the home building industry.

LiTera and their subsidiary One Number Support have designed a better way to budget, manage and support the new technology that builders are integrating into their homes and community centers. This solution model will provide a higher level of service and support for all of Shea Home Master Planned Communities, their HOA’s, and residents while providing a consistent level of technology support and vendor management to community staff and their home owners during and after the community build-out process.

"We were looking for a national support company to provide Technology and Audio Visual support services to our communities," stated Sam Nail, Sales and Marketing Technology Manager of Shea Homes. "LiTera’s One Number Support solution coupled with their knowledge of our industry made them the best option. We now have the ability to provide a consistent level of technology support and vendor management to assure our community staff and their home owners are supported before, during and after the community build-out process."

"First and foremost we are a support company providing the best service in the industry. As we have evolved we are now heavily integrated in providing automation technology for the home and master planned community centers. ," said Doug Ralston, CEO of LiTera Companies. "Shea Homes’ reputation for providing the highest degree of customer service and technology amenities for their communities will be an excellent fit with our One Number Support solution model."
